I hesitated. Because I couldn’t hear a shot. I didn’t even hear my gun. But I was sure I had reached the back of the building, he came out. I couldn’t go look at him. But I knew he had been hurt. I couldn’t hear him. I heard only the sound of shots. I ran to the back of the building. One took a shot at that police officer. He gave chase. They hit another car, near Turner or Street. One suspect decided he didn’t want any part of it, so he gave the other, the driver, his gun. So the suspect had two guns. He died on foot down La Salle Street and into an apartment complex. I probably the fourth or fifth officer killed. When we drove up, officers wereアクセーショントップックアッシュとして、秒を切って、かんたんに通過。その隙間を通って、警察官が複数のアパートメントにまで到達しましたが、目撃者から報告されたように、内部に誰かがいる。"I'm not the only officer," I remember saying. "We’re all being shot out.
