The Baker Institute Center for the United States and Mexico seeks to have a meaningful impact on the U.S.–Mexico relationship through original research, relevant solutions to binational policy issues, and the advancement of mutual understanding by convening leaders who can bridge the world of ideas and the world of action.

Research and Activities

The center’s research agenda focuses primarily on the following issues of concern to both the United States and Mexico:

- Trade and Economic Integration
- Immigration
- Rule of Law
- Security and Organized Crime
- The U.S.–Mexico Border
- Politics and Democracy in Mexico

Other Areas of Interest

The Center for the United States and Mexico also addresses key issues of the day and their policy impact on the dynamic relationship between Mexico and the United States. Areas of study include:

- Energy
- Education
- Telecommunications
- Health Care
